

The Conference of the Society of Biological Systematics 2023
(24th Meeting of the GfBS)
4th Circular

2 February 2023

Dear colleagues,

due to the small amount of applications we decided today to change the plan for the GfBS conference from a meeting in presence in Frankfurt to an online format. The number of participants was insufficient to meet in person. We do have hope that more colleagues will now register for this online conference. The online conference will be offered free of any charge and our administration will reimburse all of you who have registered and paid already asap.

As we will not have any poster presentations during this online conference, I have to ask all of you who have sent abstract if you are happy to present a talk. If you do not want to present a talk and want to withdraw the abstract, then please get back to us within the next week until 8th February 2023.

We apologize for any inconveniences and are looking forward to an interesting and stimulating online conference at the end of March.

With best wishes to all of you, ANGELIKA BRANDT and team
